ATLANTA BAPTIST COLLEGE

Atlanta Baptist College, in the city of Atlanta, Georgia, is operated by the American Baptist Home Mission Society, of New York, for the education of Negro young men, with special reference to the preparation of ministers and teachers.

History

The College was organized in the year 1867, in the city of Augusta, Georgia, under the name of "The Augusta Institute." In 1879, under the presidency of Rev. Joseph T. Robert, LL. D., (1870-1884), it was removed to Atlanta and incorporated under the name "Atlanta Baptist Seminary." At this stage of its growth the institution owned only one building, that a comparatively small three-story structure located near what is now the Terminal Station. President Robert was succeeded by President Samuel Graves, D. D., in 1884. Dr. Graves served as president until 1890, continuing as Professor of Theology for four years longer. In 1889, as the surroundings of the old location in Atlanta had become unfavorable, a new site was secured, and in the spring of 1890 the school was removed to its present location. In the autumn of this year President George Sale (1890-1906) entered upon his duties. In 1897 amendments to the charter were secured, granting full college powers and changing the name of the institution to "Atlanta Baptist College." In 1906 President Sale resigned to become

Superintendent of Education of the American Baptist Home Mission Society, and he was succeeded by President John Hope, who had been a professor on the faculty since 1898.

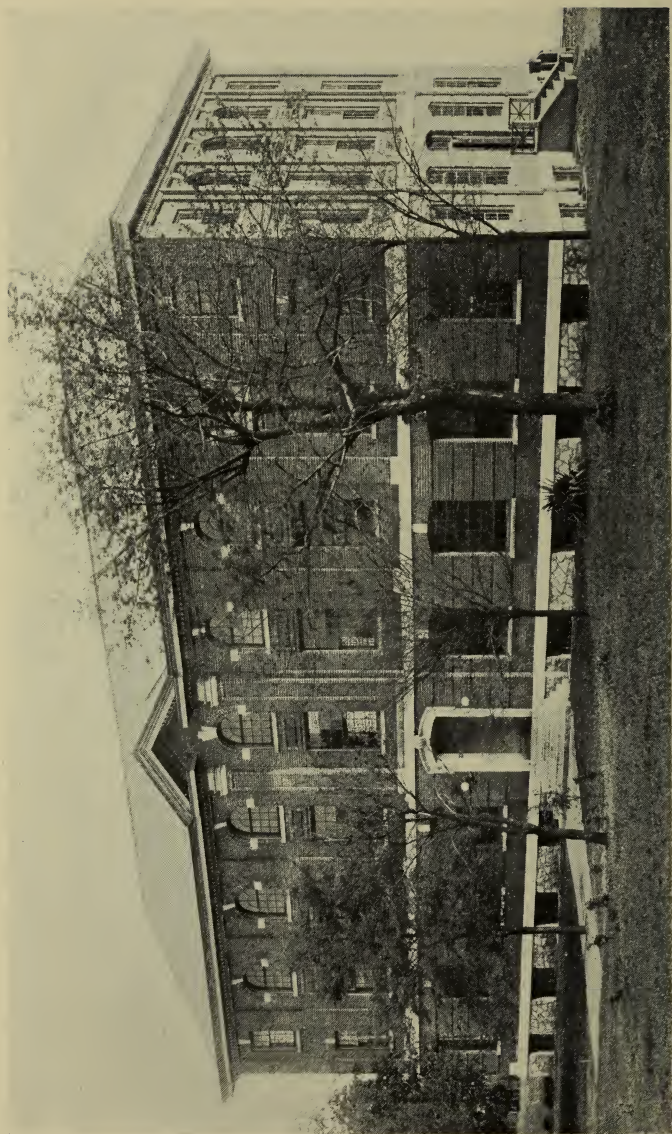

Campus

The campus is thirteen acres in extent. It occupies one of the highest points of land in the city, 1,100 feet above sea-level, and commands a fine view of the city and surrounding country. For beauty and healthfulness the situation could not be surpassed. The property is on West Fair Street, at the junction of Chestnut Street, within half an hour's walk from the post-office and railroad stations. Electric cars marked "West Fair-Lee Street" leave the corner of Peachtree and Marietta Streets, and the Terminal Station every twenty minutes, direct for the college.

Buildings

Graves Hall, erected in 1889, at a cost of $28,000, and named in honor of President Graves, contains dormitories and the dining-room. The building has four stories above the basement and is beautifully faced with white marble.

Quarles Hall, erected in 1898 at a cost of $14,000, and named in honor of Rev. Frank Quarles, for many years pastor of Friendship Baptist Church, Atlanta, and president of the Georgia Baptist Convention from its organization until his death, contains the classrooms in which the work of the English Preparatory Department is done. The entire third floor is devoted to science work, one room being a well supplied chemical laboratory, one a physical laboratory, another a biological laboratory, and a fourth a lecture room.

SALE HALL.

Sale Hall, erected at a cost of $40,000 and occupied in October, 1910, is named in honor of President George Sale. It has a well lighted and ventilated basement with two rooms. One, containing the Manual Training Shop, is fitted with benches and sets of tools for instruction in wood-working; the other, a gymnasium, has shower-baths supplied with hot and cold water. The building is three stories above basement and contains recitation rooms for Divinity School, College and Academy, a reception room, offices, library, and a beautiful chapel with a seating capacity of seven hundred. Connected with this building is a central heating plant.

In addition to these buildings there are others for special purposes. The President's residence is a beautiful two-story brick house of a style of architecture in harmony with that of the larger buildings. A two-story frame building contains a printing office and the laundry. There is also on the grounds a barn.

The School Garden

About four acres have been set apart for the school garden. Regular class instruction is given in gardening, and vegetables and small fruits are raised for the college table. Cold frames and hot-beds are used during the winter months, and instruction given in their use.

GENERAL ADVANTAGES

Library and Reading Room

The Main Library now contains over three thousand volumes. It is situated in Sale Hall. Valuable additions have been made during the year, and new works are constantly being added.

The Reading Room is in Sale Hall. It is supplied with a judicious selection of magazines and newspapers. To both Library and Reading Room students have daily access.

Religious Privileges

This is emphatically a Christian school. The faculty keeps constantly in mind the fact that it was founded by a missionary organization, and is sustained by the contributions of Christian people for the Christian education of young men. While, therefore, we seek to give the best possible instruction in the literary and industrial branches, stress is placed upon moral training and the development of consecrated workers. Self-mastery, symmetrical character, high ideals and purposes are regarded as the chief ends of education.

Special attention is given to the spiritual needs of the student. The Bible has a place in the regular course of study. In the life and discipline of the school, constant effort is made to inculcate Christian principles.

Besides the daily morning and evening devotions, religious exercises are held as follows: Sunday, 1.30 P. M., Y. M. C. A.; 7 P. M., Preaching Service; Thursday, 6.45 P. M., Prayer-Meeting. These meetings have always proved a source of great blessing in the quickening of spiritual life among the students.

Students are allowed to attend the Sunday-schools and the day services in the city churches on Sundays.

Care of Health

Constant watchcare is maintained over the health of the students. In Graves Hall is an isolated infirmary where sick students may be quite apart from the rest of the school and receive special attention. The deposit of one dollar a year from each student guarantees skillful medical treatment from the college physician.

Student Activities

There are several societies and student organizations connected with the College. The Young Men's Christian Association, for the spiritual improvement of the members and for religious work, is one of the most active organizations in the institution. It meets weekly, and under its direction numbers of students are assigned work in the various churches and Sunday-schools of the city. Opportunity is thus afforded students for practical Christian work outside the College. The Young Men's Model Association meets once a month; its object is improvement along lines of general culture. The Ministers' Union is an organization composed of members of the Divinity School; its object is generally to discuss subjects of interest to those looking forward to the ministry as a profession. The Atlanta Baptist College Literary Society is open to students in any department of the College; its aim is general improvement along the lines of literature and public speaking. The Pi Gamma Literary Society is composed of students of collegiate grade in Atlanta Baptist College and Spelman Seminary. It seeks general improvement along literary lines, and its meetings are held once a month. The Athenaeum Publishing Company publishes each month during the school year The Athenaeum, the organ of the alumni and students of Atlanta Baptist College and Spelman Seminary. Two debating societies, the College Debating Society and the Academic Debating Society, meet on alternate Fridays. Under the supervision of the faculty, intercollegiate debating is allowed and encouraged; and for the last three years Atlanta Baptist College has engaged in a triangular contest each year with Knoxville College and Talladega College. The Glee Club and the Orchestra, both under the general direction of the Instructor in Music, offer peculiar opportunities to those who wish to improve in singing and in the use of musical instruments. The Athletic Association, a student organization, generally directs the energies of its members along the lines of football, baseball, basketball, and tennis. It also encourages track meets and, from time to time, in conference with the faculty Director of Athletics, it arranges intercollegiate contests in the various divisions of athletics. Generally, Atlanta Baptist College encourages all activities—religious, literary, athletic—which make for the development of Christian ideals and for the culture of a sound mind in a sound body.

GOVERNMENT

Admission

All students must furnish satisfactory testimonials respecting their moral character and habits. If they come from other schools they are required to present certificates of reputable dismission and records of their class work from the proper authorities.

While students may enter at any time, it is very important that they be present on the first day of the school year, that no time be lost in commencing work.

Students from a distance are required to board at the college building.

Examinations and Promotions

On entering the college, students are examined for classification. Care is exercised to place the student where he can work to the best advantage. Examinations are held at the close of each half of the school year. Upon the results of these examinations, with those of the daily recitations, promotions are determined.

Rules

In the regulation of the conduct of the student, it is the aim of the faculty to govern by principles rather than rules. All requirements are based on the Golden Rule, "Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so to them." Regulations exist for the good of the student to secure to him in the highest possible degree the end for which he comes to college. The aim is to produce self-control, and to secure the cheerful acquiescence of the student in rules that are made for the good of all.

With these ends in view, regularity and punctuality at all regular exercises are required; absence from the grounds is permitted only by special excuse of the teachers; hours set apart for study are to be sacredly observed, and students are required to retire at a stated hour.

Correct personal habits are inculcated; cleanliness and neatness are required; the use of intoxicating liquors and tobacco, and the possession of firearms or other dangerous weapons, are forbidden. College sports and games are allowed and encouraged under restrictions that prevent danger to health and neglect of regular school duties. In general, such watchfulness is maintained as will insure, as far as possible, good health, progress in study, and the development of manly qualities and moral character.

In the Elementary English course scholarships will be offered in each year amounting to one year's tuition in the next year above.

These scholarships are given on condition that the holders be present, and that they maintain a uniformly good deportment for the full term for which the scholarship is held.

Ripley Scholarship

By the will of the late Mrs. Ann Oswald Ripley, widow of the Rev. Henry Ripley, D.D., of Newton Center, Mass., a scholarship of $40 a year has been established in Atlanta Baptist College for the benefit of those who have the ministry in view.

Affiliated Academy Scholarships

By vote of the American Baptist Home Mission Society, the following Academies, aided yearly by the society, are affiliated with Atlanta Baptist College: Americus Institute, Americus, Ga.; Jeruel Academy, Athens, Ga.; Walker Baptist Institute, Augusta, Ga.; Florida Institute, Live Oak, Fla.; Florida Baptist Academy, Jacksonville, Fla. A scholarship of $25 is offered each year to the student in the Senior Class of these Academies taking highest rank, and entering Atlanta Baptist College. The amount of the scholarship is to apply to the payment of fees, and to be payable on the same conditions as those offered in the College classes.

PRIZES

Through the kindness of Mr. Willard D. Chamberlin, of Dayton, Ohio, two cash prizes of $30 each are awarded each year for the encouragement of Bible study and reading. These prizes are known as the Willard Chamberlin Scripture Reading Prize, and the Samuel Graves Scripture Recitation Prize. They are open for competition to students in any department of the school.

For the last eight years, Mr. George W. Perkins, of New York, has kindly given each year the sum of twenty-five dollars to be used in the Academy for prizes in English Composition. Ten dollars is awarded each year to that student in the first or second year who writes the best descriptive essay, and fifteen dollars to that student in the third or fourth year who writes the best essay upon an assigned literary topic.

For the last seven years Mr. F. J. Paxon, of Atlanta, has kindly given each year the sum of fifteen dollars for prizes in public speaking. Ten dollars is awarded each year to that student in the College who delivers the best oration, and five dollars to that student in the Academy who delivers the best reading or declamation.

For the last four years Prof. J. J. Starks, A. B., '98, of Seneca, S. C., has offered a prize of ten dollars to be awarded to that student in the academy or college who shall from his record during the school year be deemed the best man of affairs and the most helpful Christian gentleman as well as a faithful student.

For the last two years Prof. Philip M. Davis, A. B., '11, of Birmingham, Ala., has offered a prize of ten dollars to be awarded to that student who keeps the neatest room and who is neatest in his personal appearance.

For the year 1912-13 Mr. Joseph D. Avent, A. B., '07, of Tallahassee, Fla., has offered a prize of ten dollars to be known as the Edgar Allan Poe Short Story Prize and to be awarded to that student in the College who shall write the best original short story.

SUPPORT

Atlanta Baptist College is conducted under the auspices of the American Baptist Home Mission Society of the Northern States. For its main support it depends upon a yearly grant from the funds of the Society.

Cook Memorial Chair

A fund of $20,000, a portion of the bequest of Mr. Josiah W. Cook, of Cambridge, Mass., has been set apart for the endowment of the President's chair under the name of "The Cook Memorial Chair."

Student Labor and Beneficiary Fund

This fund depends for its support upon contributions from churches, societies, and individuals. There is need of large additions to this fund in order to extend the usefulness of the college. The President will gladly correspond with churches, individuals, Sunday-schools, and young people's societies with reference to this fund.

Current Expenses

For current expenses of each session, the College is dependent upon the fees paid by students for board, tuition, etc.

Need of Endowment

The location of the school is most excellent; the buildings are substantial and well-built, and are kept in thorough repair. So far as grounds and buildings are concerned, these have been secured with a view to permanence. The character of the work done, and the increasing efficiency of every department insure the highest and most lasting results in the lives of the students and those among whom they labor. There is need of substantial endowment to relieve the burden upon the Home Mission Society, and to insure the permanence of the College. Money so invested will yield rich returns in good accomplished by the College.

The Divinity School

Faculty

JOHN HOPE, A. M.,
President.

CATLETT C. SMITH, A. M., D. D.,

ROY L. VAN DEMAN, A. B., B. D.,
Professor of Greek and English Interpretation.

EDWIN P. JOHNSON, A. B., B. D.,

The Divinity School, though a department of the College, is quite distinct in its organization and work. With the exception of the President, the instructors devote their time exclusively to the subjects of the Divinity Course. The aim of the school is to build up and strengthen the Christian ministry and thus furnish our churches with godly men well equipped for this work.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION

Four courses are offered: the course for Bachelor of Divinity, the course for Bachelor of Theology, the course for a Diploma, and the Pastor's course.

Diplomas or certificates of graduation from such a course in accredited academies will be accepted in place of examination. The student's preparation must include two years of instruction in the Greek language, embracing elementary Greek and the equivalent of four books of Xenophon. One year's instruction may be taken in the Greek department of the college during the first year of the course, but all candidates must have a working knowledge of elementary Greek. The course is as follows:

In order to secure degrees or diplomas students must be in attendance during three full years and must pass satisfactory examinations on all the prescribed subjects.

The Pastor's Course

This course is for one year and is designed to meet especially the needs of pastors, and gives, besides systematic instruction in the Bible, such information as is necessary for the proper management of a Church.

The Divinity School will open for the session of 1913-14 on Tuesday, September 30, 1913, and will close on Wednesday, May 27, 1914. No charge is made for tuition. The requirement for graduation is the satisfactory completion of the work of eighteen courses. A course is the pursuit of one subject throughout a school year, with four recitations a week. A half-course is a subject similarly pursued for half a year, or a subject pursued throughout a school year with two recitations a week. The figures in the outline of the work of the Freshman year below indicate the number of recitations per week. While for convenience the work is here stated according to years, after the Freshman year the principle of the elective system is in some degree in force. The following are the courses which may count for credit, but which are not rigidly required: Latin 6, Greek 4, German 2, Pedagogy, Manual Training, Advanced Bible, and any two of the half-courses in History. All other courses are required, and must be included in any program of study offered by a candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts. This degree, and only this, is conferred upon those who complete the work of the College.

Sophomore Year

Sophomores may enter any of the courses below if their previous preparation is adequate and if no one happens to have been taken in the Freshman year. DESCRIPTION OF COURSES

English

ENGLISH 5. (The number of the course, for convenience, follows on the numbers of courses in the Academy.) In the work of this course, which is required of all Freshmen, the emphasis is on practical work in composition. About two months is spent on each of the fields of Description, Narration, Exposition, and Argumentation. The text that is used as the starting-point for the work is Cairns's Forms of Discourse. Outside reading is frequently assigned in connection with the work in Composition, and frequent and regular reports are required on several standard works of the rank of Shakespeare's The Tempest and Jane Austen's Pride and Prejudice.

PROFESSOR JOHNSON and PROFESSOR BRAWLEY.

ENGLISH 6. This course covers in broad outline the field of English Literature from Anglo-Saxon times to the present. The method of study emphasizes detail and technique as well as appreciation. Text: Cunliffe-Pyre-Young's Century Readings in English Literature, supplemented by library reading, especially in the drama. Several short themes and one longer essay of two thousand words are called for in connection with the work.

PROFESSOR BRAWLEY.

German

GERMAN 1. In the first year in German the fundamentals of German grammar are taught, easy German stories are read and used as the basis for conversation and composition. The memorizing of poems and songs is required. German is used in the classroom as far as practicable.

PROFESSOR WHITE.

GERMAN 2. The second course includes a review of grammar and a continuation of the work in conversation and composition, based on some account of German life or of travels in Germany. One classic, such as Schiller's Jungfrau von Orleans, is read. Memorizing is continued.

PROFESSOR WHITE.

Latin

The work in Latin is designed to follow upon that required in the Academy, and courses are numbered accordingly.

LATIN 5. In this course, which is required and which is to be taken as soon as possible after entrance, the reading consists of Cicero's De Senectute, Livy, Books XXI and XXII, and Horace's Odes, with practice in composition. PROFESSOR WHITE.

LATIN 6. In this course, which is an elective, the ground covered consists of further reading in Horace, Tacitus's Germania, and Terence's Phormio, with study of Roman life. PROFESSOR WHITE.

Greek

The courses in Greek are designed to follow upon the course in elementary Greek required in the Academy; but Greek 2 will not count for college credit unless the program of preparatory work offered for college entrance includes both Physics and Chemistry.

GREEK 2. Xenophon's Anabasis, 4 Books, with practice in composition.

GREEK 3. This course, which is required of all college students, covers Plato's Apology and Crito, and Homer's Iliad, 3 Books. PROFESSOR PHILLIPS.

GREEK 4. In this course, which is an elective, the reading consists of Homer's Odyssey, 2 Books, Sophocles's Antigone, and Demosthenes's Phillippics.

PROFESSOR PHILLIPS.

Mathematics

SOLID GEOMETRY is a required half-course to be taken in the Freshman Year, though it may sometimes be taken in the Sophomore Year. Text: Wentworth's Solid Geometry, revised. PROFESSOR ARCHER.

COLLEGE ALGEBRA is a half-course offered and required on the same basis as Solid Geometry. Text: Wentworth's College Algebra, revised.

PROFESSOR ARCHER.

TRIGONOMETRY is a half-course offered and required on the same basis as Solid Geometry. Text: Wells's Plane Trigonometry.

PROFESSOR ARCHER.

History

Four half-courses in History are offered, all being open to students above the Freshman Year. Two, any two, are required.

HISTORY 1. A half-course in the Rise and Development of the English Constitution. The work is taken up in the following order: the crown, the crown and the courts, the central assembly, legislation, taxation and finance, the land, the people, the towns, the church, and the defences of the realm. Emphasis is placed upon the study of the important constitutional documents and the more important cases in constitutional history. Each student is required to present at least one thesis upon some assigned topic. Text: Feilden's A Short Constitutional History of England.

PROFESSOR JOHNSON.

HISTORY 2. A half-course in the Development of Modern Europe, with special emphasis upon the French Revolution and the Napoleonic Era. Matters purely political and military are given less attention than is ordinarily directed to them in more elementary courses. More stress is laid upon territorial changes, constitutional developments, internal reforms, and other economic phenomena. At least one thesis, upon some topic assigned in connection with the course, is required of each student. Text: Robinson and Beard's The Development of Modern Europe. PROFESSOR JOHNSON.

HISTORY 3. A half-course in American History with special emphasis upon the Critical and Reconstructive Periods. The aim of this course is to give the student a comprehensive view of the entire field of the History of America from the period of its colonization until the present time. As in History 2, more emphasis is placed upon such social and economic forces as slavery, the western frontier, and constitutional changes than upon matters purely political and military. Each student is required to present at least one thesis growing out of special study upon some assigned period or movement. Text: Muzzey's American History. PROFESSOR JOHNSON.

(Offered in 1912-13; not offered in 1913-14.)

HISTORY 4. A half-course in the essentials of Negro-American History. In general method the plan of the work follows that of the text, Brawley's A Short History of the American Negro; but there is also wide and rapid reading in such writers and authorities as Du Bois, Williams, Blake, and Merriam. A thesis is required; this is generally about five thousand words in length and entails intensive study of some topic connected with the course. PROFESSOR BRAWLEY.

(Offered in 1912-13; not offered in 1913-14.)

Economics

A full course, conducted by means of class discussions, assigned readings, and lectures. The aim is to acquaint the student with the development and significance of the industrial organization of society, the principles governing the consumption, production, and distribution of wealth, and such representative economic problems as labor movements and legislation, taxation, transportation, etc. The course is made thoroughly practical by directing the attention and thought of students to current economic problems and activities. Special emphasis is placed upon the economic history and activities of the Negro in American life. Text: Seager's Introduction to Economics.

PROFESSOR JOHNSON.

(Offered in 1912-13; not offered in 1913-14.)

Sociology

A full course, conducted by means of class discussions, assigned readings, lectures, and field work. The aims of this course are: (a) to acquaint the student with the theories of social progress and with practical social problems in the life of to-day; (b) to give an elementary knowledge of the method of statistics; and (c) to give practical experience in the field work of social research. Special emphasis is placed upon the study of social problems of the American Negro, and each student is required to take part in an investigation of some problem in the life of Negroes in the city of Atlanta. Text: Carver's Sociology and Social Progress.

PROFESSOR JOHNSON.

Philosophy

In Logic and Psychology half-courses are given, and in Ethics a full course is given, as follows:

LOGIC. The outlines of formal Logic are studied with special attention to terms and their meaning, to the logical import of propositions with a view to inculcating accuracy of statement, and to analysis of arguments and detection of fallacies. PROFESSOR ARCHER.

PSYCHOLOGY. The course takes up the nervous system; sensation and organs of sense; the facts of consciousness studied from the natural science point of view; perception, memory, imagination, emotion, the will, and the relation of Psychology to Philosophy and Ethics. PROFESSOR PHILLIPS.

ETHICS. The subject of Ethics is treated historically, and the various types of ethical theory traced in their development from ancient times. Search is made for the elements of truth in all theories, and the superiority of the ethics of Christianity is shown. PROFESSOR HOPE.

Education

In connection with the Teachers Professional Department of Spelman Seminary, a full course in the subjects of Education and Pedagogy is given. The first half of the year is devoted to the History of Education; the second half is devoted to Pedagogy.

English Bible

BIBLE 4. In the Freshman Year a half-course in the study of the English Bible is required.

BIBLE 5. A full course in special study of the Bible is offered to students who have had the required work of the Freshman Year. The course is elective.

PROFESSOR VAN DEMAN.

Physics

PHYSICS 2. About one-half the time is given to class discussions, lecture-table demonstrations, quizzes, and problems; the rest to laboratory work. During the first term emphasis is laid upon mechanics, molecular physics, and heat, followed in the second term by electricity, sound, and light. The method of treatment is analytical. The course presupposes a full course in Descriptive Physics in the High School or Academy. Texts: Millikan and Mills's Mechanics, Molecular Physics, and Heat, and Millikan and Mills's Electricity, Sound, and Light. PROFESSOR DAVIS.

Chemistry

CHEMISTRY 2. It is the object of this course to give a definite idea of the fundamental laws of General Chemistry. Much emphasis is laid upon the application of the laws and theories of chemical equilibrium, solution, and of electrolytic dissociation. Gravimetric and volumetric analysis are introduced. The subject matter is discussed in the combined lectures, recitations, and quizzes. The laboratory work requires at least four hours a week. Chemistry 1, given in the Academy, is a prerequisite. Texts: Alex. Smith's General Inorganic Chemistry, and Smith and Hale's Manual. PROFESSOR DAVIS.

Geology

One full course in Geology is given. In this, aside from the ordinary work of recitation, three things are emphasized: (1) Laboratory and library work, with the examination of minerals, fossils, maps, charts, and reports on United States and state geological surveys; (2) Field-work—the study of Pre-Cambrian and igneous rocks, soil, sub-aerial agents, topographical features and contour map interpretation; (3) Notebook work—the general classification of the rocks of the earth, minerals, mountains, plateaus, valleys, plains, and animals, the rocks and minerals being classified according to Scott. Text: Norton's Elements of Geology. PROFESSOR WARDLAW.

Manual Training

A special course is offered as an elective to students above the Freshman year, being designed primarily for the training of those who may be called upon to teach the subject. The course includes the arrangement, names, and care of tools, cardboard construction, knife-work, exercises in sawing and planing, the designing and construction of small articles, mechanical drawing, and the planning and making of furniture. PROFESSOR WARDLAW.

The Academy

While the work of the Academy is intended primarily to prepare men for college, such as do not expect to take a full college course receive such training as will fit them for teaching or business life. All the courses offered in the Academy are required. They are given as follows:

DEPARTMENTS OF INSTRUCTION

English

The instruction given in English has three distinct objects: Proficiency in English composition, skill in public address, and the development of literary appreciation. In addition to the regular work in course, each student must appear in regular rhetorical exercises before the whole school.

ENGLISH 1. In the first year there is constant drill in composition, with emphasis on technical grammar, sentence and paragraph structure, poetic forms, etc. Text: Lockwood and Emerson's Composition and Rhetoric.

ENGLISH 2. In the second year composition is continued, the classics read being used as a basis. The following representative American classics are studied:

Irving's Sketch Book (selections), Bryant's Thanatopsis and other poems, Poe's The Raven and other poems, Hawthorne's The Great Stone Face, Longfellow's The Courtship of Miles Standish, and Evangeline, Lowell's The Vision of Sir Launfal, Whittier's Snow-Bound, Hale's The Man Without a Country, Washington's Farewell Address, Webster's First Bunker Hill Oration, and selections from Lincoln.

ENGLISH 3. In the first half of the third year an introductory course in English History is given as a basis for the classics to follow. Text: Montgomery's English History. In the second half of the third year Shakespeare's Macbeth, The Merchant of Venice, and Julius Caesar, and Milton's Minor Poems are studied, the Lake English Classics editions (Scott Foresman & Co.) being used.

ENGLISH 4. In the fourth year more classics are read in accordance with the requirements imposed upon high schools and academies throughout the country, and the work in composition is continued. The following classics, in the Standard English Classics series (Ginn & Co.), are studied: Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, Gray's Elegy, Goldsmith's The Deserted Village, and The Vicar of Wakefield, Scott's The Lady of the Lake, Coleridge's The Rime of the Ancient Mariner, Macaulay's Life of Samuel Johnson, George Eliot's Silas Marner, and Tennyson's Gareth and Lynette, Launcelot and Elaine, and The Passing of Arthur.

Latin

The object of instruction in Greek and Latin is to give the letter and spirit of the classics, and to improve English expression. With this purpose in view, word forms, word groups and idioms are studied. Attention is given to English words of Greek or Latin origin. Translation is required in easy, idiomatic English, and the courses are further enhanced by historical reference and art illustration. The work of the four years in Latin is as follows:

LATIN 1. In the first year daily drill is given in the fundamentals of Latin grammar, selections from Latin authors of increasing difficulty being read in the later months of the course. Text: Collar and Daniell's First Year Latin.

LATIN 2. Caesar's Commentaries, 4 Books, with practice in Composition.

LATIN 3. Cicero: 4 Orations against Catiline, and oration Pro Poeta Archia. Sallust's Catiline. Composition.

LATIN 4. Virgil's Aeneid, 6 Books. Composition.

Greek

GREEK 1. In the fourth year a full course in Elementary Greek is given. Text: White's First Greek Book.

Mathematics

ALGEBRA 1. Throughout the first year daily instruction is given in the fundamentals of Algebra. Text: Wells's Algebra for Secondary Schools.

ALGEBRA 2. The course begun in the first year is continued for half of the second year.

GEOMETRY 1. A full year of Plane Geometry is given in the third year. Text: Wentworth and Smith's Plane Geometry.

History and Civics

Three half-courses in History and Civics are offered in the earlier years of the Academy, as follows:

(1) CIVICS. An elementary half-course in Civil Government is designed to impress the fundamental principles of American government. Text: Boynton's Civics.

(2) GREEK AND ROMAN HISTORY. With the specific purpose of supplementing the work in Latin, and with the still larger purpose of general culture, a half-course in the outlines of Greek and Roman History is given in the second year. Text: West's Ancient World.

(3) ENGLISH HISTORY. In the first half of the third year the regular work in English gives way for a half-course in English History. This is designed to furnish background for the study of the important English classics to follow. Text: Montgomery's English History.

Physics

PHYSICS 1. This course, given in the third year, is offered in such a way as to bring out the relation of Physics to daily life. It embraces physical measurements in Mechanics, Sound, Light, and Electricity. Two hours a week are given to laboratory work. Text: Millikan and Gale's Elementary Physics, with Manual to accompany this text.

Chemistry

CHEMISTRY 1. The course comprises quizzes, lectures, and recitations. Four hours a week are given to laboratory work. It is the aim to give a clear idea of the field of Descriptive Chemistry. Emphasis is laid upon the laws, theories, and applications of Chemistry. Text: Newell's Descriptive Chemistry and Newell's Manual.

Biology and Geography

Three half-courses in Elementary Science are offered in the first two years as follows:

(1) A half-course in Physiology, with laboratory work. Text: Blaisdell's Life and Health.

(2) A half-course in Botany, with laboratory and field work. Text: Bergen's Elements of Botany.

(3) A half-course in Physical Geography, the work being illustrated by the projection lantern and by field and laboratory work.

Manual Training

Throughout the first and second years one laboratory period a week is required in Manual Training.

Music

Instruction in Vocal Music, with two lessons a week, is given throughout the first two years of the course. In the third year the work is continued, with emphasis on the History of Music.

English Bible

Two lessons a week are given throughout the course, the object being to give a comprehensive knowledge of the whole Bible.

The inadequacy of the instruction given in the public schools, especially in the country whence many of our best students come, renders it necessary to maintain an efficient English Preparatory Department. This department comprises the four higher grades of the public school.

Students who finish the work of this department are thoroughly prepared to enter the classes of the Academic Course of the College, or to pass the State examination for teachers. Every student in this department is given work in Manual Training two hours each week. The course consists of cardboard construction, knife work, graded lessons in carpentry and gardening. Class instruction is also given in vocal music.

The work of the course is in the following subjects:

Arithmetic	Penmanship
Drawing	Reading
Geography	Spelling
Grammar	Literature
Language	United States History
Bible	Knife-work
Cardboard Construction	Elementary Agriculture
Wood-working	Vocal Music
